ACCIDENT OR SUICIDE.

Death of M. C. Ensminger, Killed by a Big Four Train at Danville.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. DANVILLE, Ind., Nov. 11 .- M. C. Ensmirger, a well-known farmer, was instantly killed here to-day by the Southwestern limited on the Big Four. It is difficult to tell whether the death was accidental or suicidal. He had been at the railway station, where it appears he had no business to take him. He could have walked home down the track two miles east, but was never known to go home that way. A little before the train was due he walked down the right of way close to the track. He had his head down and the wind was blowing a gale at his back. It is doubtful if he could have heard the train. It was very close to him when he raised his head. The engineer said he seemed horror-stricken. He stepped directly in front of the train, which struck him, killing him instantly. He was well-to-do and was a man of family.

New Albany Man Takes Poison.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. NEW ALBANY, Ind., Nov. 11 .- William Simpson, one of the best-known young men of this city, committed suicide this morning in Louisville by swallowing carbolic acid. He was employed as a traveling salesman for Zinsmelster Brothers, wholesale grocers of this city and Louisville, and several days ago was discovered to be about $1,000 short in his accounts. A settlement was to have been made this morning, and Simpson had gone to the law office of Aaron Kohn, where the consultation with his employers was to have been held. He had been there but a short time when he walked into another room and swallowed the fiery fluid thirty-one years old and left a wiodw.

WILL CASE APPEALED.

Bickel Estate Will Be Adjudicated in the Supreme Court.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. RICHMOND, Ind., Nov. 11.-An interesting case will be appealed from here to the Supreme Court. It is the suit of Wilton Hibberd to have the will of Mrs. Anna Bickel, widow of the late Judge W. A. Bickel, set aside. The estate is a valuable one and Hibberd, who is an heir with several others, is shut out under the will, Mrs. Irene Wiley Trask, of Bayonne, N. J., getting the entire estate. The point of interest is that Mrs. Bickel's will was made thirty years ago while she was divorced from Judge Bickel and was intended to dispose of her property only, but as she remarried and he left no will, disposed of the entire estate. WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 .- Fire that swept the woods for a considerable area near Cleveland Park, just beyond the city limits, this afternoon, for a time threatened to destroy the summer home of Admiral Dewey and the former country home of former President Cleveland. It was finally extinguished without damage except to the Several fires in other sections of the suburbs reached alarming dimensions and threatened a large amount of valuable property, but fortunately were extinguished before causing much damage. They were helped by big accumulations of dead leaves, and some boys who had started them are being sought for by the police. Police reserves and all the available firemen of one section, armed with buckets, went to one ire, between Deanwood and Chesapeake Junction, in a special car, and, assisted by citizens, fought flames away from build ings. The scene is being guarded to-night by residents and police to prevent another outbreak. Another large area was burned out across the eastern branch of the Potomac, where the fire raged twenty hours before it burned itself out without damage to buildings or persons.

INDIANA AND KENTUCKY.

Issue Between Them.

Unprejudiced View of the Present

Milwaukee Free Press. The refusal of Governor Durbin, of Indiana, to honor the requisition of the Governor of Kentucky for the surrender of ex-Governor Taylor of the same State does | ditto. The percentage of carbonic acid is the Indianian credit. It may be that Taylor is guilty of complicity in the murder of Governor Goebel, but it would be no part of lighted with it, and am quite in a position the object of the trial to find out whether he is guilty. The object for which the Governor asked that Taylor might be delivered up was that he might be convicted, and either imprisoned for life or executed. Had Governor Durbin handed over the ex-Governor for trial he would be a party to his conviction. He would not consent to be this. He refused, as he says, because the court before which Taylor would be tried would be "partisan to the very exganized for conviction in its personnel and impanelment. That is a pretty hard arraignment of the court methods of Kentucky by the Governor of a neighboring State, but there is little doubt of its justice. The courts appear to be about as partisan as the politicians. In fact, the courts are presided over by politicians, and decisions are rarely given there now that involve political interests but are given in favor of the one It is all politics, and political life in Kentucky, as well as in some of the other States, has fallen very low. The Constitution of the United States provides that "A person charged in any State with any crime, who shall flee from justice and be found in another State shall, on the This is a most important provision, but it is not more important than that other one which provides that "In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to be held to-night in the assembly rooms of a speedy and ublic trial, by an impartial the Board of Trade. Much business of jury of the State and district wherein the importance will be brought before the crime shall have been committed." Of course | Sixteenth street and Northwestern avethe character of the man did not lessen the enormity of the crime and the guilty ones should be punished. Several men have already been punished about whose guilt there was as much question at the close as at the beginning of their trial, and Goebel's life has been well paid for. Kentucky has lost in her feuds a thousand worthier lives | lature in 1895 and again in 1899, was in the than his and never exacted any return for them.
